

CHARTING THE COURSE FOR CONTENT SERVICES INNOVATION

About Us

Docuvela helps enterprises rethink the way they manage their corporate information management in the cloud.

Built to liberate organizations who are struggling to justify the cost of legacy on-premise enterprise content management systems, Docuvela provides a combined technology and consulting service to facilitate the move to a cost-effective, secure, compliant AWS environment.

By returning ownership of information back to the enterprise, Docuvela is liberating how content, data and information can be governed, nurtured, and exploited to drive AI initiatives, reduce costs, and fuel business growth.

The Path to Innovation and Success

You spend millions every year on your ECM system right? But how much of it do you actually use?

For many organizations, the reality is that they don't need high end workflow engines, line item scanning, and multiple layers of retention policies.

Docuvela allows these organizations to focus on providing the content management functionality they really need, in a secure, scalable AWS object store. Saving cost, increasing capabilities, and stripping out unwanted and unneeded features -

Docuvela helps you chart your own course to content services innovation and success.
